

GLAD WHEN PLACED BEHIND THE BARS

Charles Lorenz, Who Runs Away From Uncle's Home in Ohio, Anxious to Get Back and Surrenders to Police.

Soldier does the Four Courts holdover from a prisoner who had glad to be there, but it remained for Charles Lorenz, 20 years old, to establish the precedent.

"I am delighted to be behind the bars," said Lorenz last evening, several hours after he was apprehended here by Assistant Chief of Detectives Kestly.

"I came to St. Louis to get arrested, I saw that this was impossible unless I committed some serious offense," said the soldier. "Now I am content for I know it will not be long before they take me back to Ohio, where my relatives and friends live."

Lorenz left a story of rough living for the last month.

Several years ago, he says, he stole a horse and buggy from Doctor Charles Brandt of Columbus and sold it for $200. The next year he failed to return to Chief Kestly, "before I had a chance to enjoy any of the money."

"They sent me to the Reform School at Mansfield, an indeterminate sentence. I hadn't been there long before I ran away. They took me back, and the school into permitting me to be paroled and on August 11 went to the home of my uncle, Carl Lorenz. I hadn't been there long before I ran away again. I don't know why, for it was the best home I had ever known, and everything would have been pleasant to me."

The boy was born in Berlin, Ill., on a freight train. There I got a job as cook at a grading camp. I didn't cook a bit, but I think of those persons born in Ohio who had been kind to me and had gotten me out of the Reform school."
